U.S. Espionage Chief Russia's Enemy No. 1

Russia's Enemy No. 1—Allen Dulles. A calm, friendly, pipe-puffing man, he directs an army of 45,000 in a constant war of espionage.

Chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, Dulles is cordially hated by the Communists and just as cordially respected by friend and foe alike. The stories (those that can be told safely) of this country's "cloak and dagger boys" make fascinating reading. And these are the stories you'll find in Parade magazine, with the Yakima Sunday Herald.

Watch for Ronald W. May's exclusive story about Allen Dulles and the CIA when you read Parade magazine Sunday.
